Popcat (POPCAT) is a Solana-based cryptocurrency project born from the viral internet sensation: the Popcat meme. Inspired by a viral internet meme featuring a domestic short-haired cat named Oatmeal, Popcat showcases the cat's mouth popping open and closed, creating a comical effect.

The meme developed into a popular game called pp cat. click, launched on December 11, 2020, by three students from the University of Sheffield. In this game, users click on an image of Oatmeal, which opens its mouth and makes a pop noise. Each click contributes to the user's nation rank on a leaderboard.

POPCAT

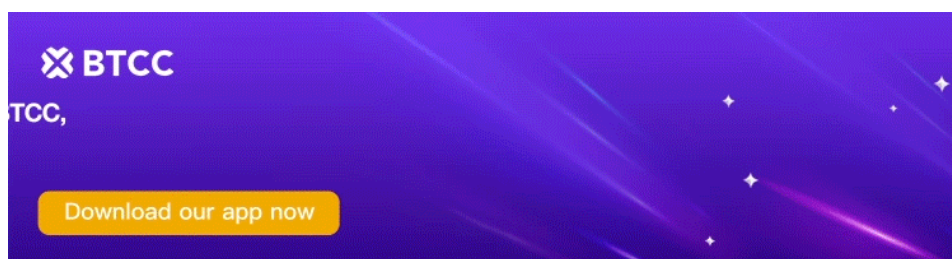

Popcat is an Internet meme originating in October 2020, in a series of videos which showcase two images of a domestic short-haired cat named 'Oatmeal', where one image has its mouth closed and the other has its mouth open, with the second image being edited to give its mouth an 'O' shape.

This intense user interaction and the game's viral nature also caught the attention of the cryptocurrency community. Acknowledging the potential power of such a passionate and dedicated following, the Popcat meme underwent a transformation into the POPCAT token. Mimicking the success of other meme coins, such as Pepe coin, POPCAT aimed to harness the existing community, while introducing a new layer of engagement.
